IN MERORIAM

IN MEMORIAM
In sad but loving memories of our mother, Mrs. Heath T. Nash, who passed away a year ago, August 6th.
God gave us a wonderful mother,
One of the world's very best;
And when her work on earth was done,
He took her home to rest.

Her life was unselfish,
For us she always lived.
Not for what she could get from us
But for what she could give.
We think of her in silence,
Very few have seen us weep,
But many tears are shed,
While others are fast asleep.

—Sadly missed by Children, Grandchildren and In-Laws.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN
International Uniform Sunday School Lessons
Bible Material: Hosea 11.
Devotional Reading: Hosea 1:1-7.

God's Children

Lesson for August 7, 1960

MANY ECHOES of the tragedy of Hosea through which the prophet Hosea passed, are to be read in his pages. He uses figures of speech which suggest sad chapters in his life-history. When his wife Gomer left him and all three children behind her, he had to be a father and mother to the little ones. This may be a necessary underlying the opening words of the 11th chapter. The "I" in verses 1 through 9 refer to God. He is presented as a loving father, taking his child (Ephraim, one of the names for the nation of Israel) in his arms and teaching him to walk. It is a heart-stirring picture, the mighty God picking up baby Ephraim and holding him in His "everlasting arms" and teaching him to walk.

Dr. Foreman

"Sharper Than A Serpent's Tooth"

Perhaps Hosea had had trouble with his motherless children. Surely God had untold trouble with Israel. God and Israel are elsewhere called husband and wife; here they are father and son. But the picture is not of harmony and happiness; it is a picture of a broken home, broken because the son will not stay at his father's house, he disrespects his father's orders and wishes. Yet God's love continues. Even when Israel acts more like brutes than men, Hosea says God feeds them, and makes their yokes and bridles as easy as possible. Yet Israel has never appreciated what God has done. Israel has never appreciated what God would do if they would let him. They worship little gods, "Baals," instead of the true God. They owe their whole existence as a nation to his mighty help in bringing them out of a hopeless slavery in Egypt to a land of hope and freedom.

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is
To have a thankless child,"
Shakespeare said. Must not God feel the sting of ingratitude even more than we would in a similar case?

Even At Their Worst

Israel was a bad nation, made up of mostly bad people. The citizens of their rival country, Judah, thought God had no use for Israel at all. Its history was stained with bloodshed, its great men were mostly skilled in the arts of destruction, especially war, its worship was cheap and unworthy of the great God. Hosea says they went away from God, they sacrificed to idols, they are bent on turning away from God, they have refused to return to God. And yet, in spite of Israel, in spite of what they were at their worst, God cries out, "How can I give you up?"

No book in the Bible makes it plainer that the love of God is indestructible. God loves men even at their worst, he loves those who run away from him. Many persons are bothered by the suggestion that God is the father of all men. Does that mean that all men are alike in God's sight? Does it mean he loves wicked men quite as dearly as goood men? It we follow the hints we have here in Hosea, we can venture these answers to those questions: Men are not alike in God's sight; the Bible clearly marks off good men from bad. God does love all men; but some run away from his love.

Why Be A Beast?

At several points Hosea speaks of Israel not as a wife, not as a son, but as an animal, most likely an ox, a beast of burden. Now it is the glory and the privilege of God's children to honor and serve him. But there is a great deal of difference between serving God gladly, out of love for him and eagerness to please him, and serving God only because he puts a bridle around your mouth and drives you as a farmer drives a mule. We do not upset God's plan for the universe by being balky. We grieve God, but we do not defeat him, by our multishness. No man really runs a successful rebellion against God. God is all-powerful and all-wise as well as all-patient and all-loving. He desires the free devotion of free sons; but if this is refused, the failure and the tragedy comes down on man's head, not on God's.

More Appropriate

A photographer was taking a picture of a farmer and his college boy son. The photographer suggested that the boy stand with his hand on his father's shoulder.
"It would be more appropriate," said the long-suffering parent, "if he stood with his hand in my pocket."
